PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Interdisciplinary Pedagogy

Global Communication and Management is an undergraduate program executed by ZIBS and the College of Media and International Culture (CMIC). It is the first undergraduate program that recruits international students at Zhejiang University. The trailblazing program is also the first to combine management, finance, communication and China studies into an interdisciplinary platform for students.

Applied Bilingual Curriculum System

Practical courses in Chinese language and culture, communications, finance, and global business are offered. English is the primary language of instruction, with Chinese being used in applied settings and research. Cross-cultural communication is stressed throughout the program.

Engagement in World-class Learning Environment

The Zhejiang University International Campus, where the program is located, is a model for international cooperation and integration of Eastern and Western styles of education. The campus brings together prestigious Chinese and foreign professors and a large international student community and admits several hundred highly qualified Chinese high school students each year.

Hub for Entrepreneurship and Innovation

Beyond the classroom, ZIBS provides exceptional opportunities for professional practice, industry internships and cultural experiences. ZIBS has established strategic partnerships with world leading firms, which will provide students with various field visit opportunities.

CULTURAL DIVERSITY AT GCM

Julianne Sherese Tanlimco Go Philippines

Ever since I stumbled upon the course Global Communication and Management, it became my only choice. I chose this because I'm very interested in all the aspects of the course — from looking at things from a global perspective, having better communication skills, and learning more about management. Besides this, I also want to engage myself more in Chinese culture.

Egor Gnutov Russia

In ZIBS, I joined various field trips and workshops, and the more I was attending the classes in GCM program, the more I better know China. Especially we have a lot of courses in the international communication which allows me to try different things and get the deeper understanding of cultural differences.

One of the reasons why I chose GCM program, is because out of all the universities I applied to, Zhejiang University (ZJU) best fits my future aspirations of becoming a globally competent person. Also, ZJU is one of the best universities in China, which has outstanding professors and facilities. Moreover, simply studying in China, a center of technology and business, will build a strong foundation and develop essential skills to thrive in a global setting.
